It occurs twice a year, once in each hemisphere (north and south). In this hemisphere, the winter solstice is the day when it is the shortest daylight of the year and the longest night when the sun is at its lowest daily maximum height in the sky. [3] There is constant darkness or obscurity in the column around the winter solstice. The opposite is the summer solstice. Also, tropic of cancer or Tropic of Capricorn depending on the hemispheres of the winter solstice sun goes 90 degrees below the horizon at midnight in the sun to nadir. Dong Zhi is quite important to the Chinese, people gather together with their families for dinner. In Cantonese, they have a saying that Dong Zhi is bigger than Chinese New Year. From here we can see how Dong Zhi is significant for the Chinese. Alice hopes all my gentlemen will have a nice Dong Zhi and a lovely Sunday –Mua!: Clicks in total: 1 useful won't help sent - 1 month 4 Days ago Dear Lord – As you can see, the box below has a mixed variety of items.
